ROUTES

IN THE

CENTRAL PROVINCES

DISTRICT.

Route No. III.

FROM KANERGAON TO NEEMUCH.

Length 440 m. 2 f.

41 Marches.

*Authority and date (month and year).—Colonel Commandant
21st Indian Infantry Brigade, Jubbulpore.*

Epitome.—General direction N. N. W. From Kanergaon to Akot the road is metalled, and nalas, with the exception of the Purna River are either bridged or paved; in the latter case they are occasionally impassable for a few days after heavy rain; the Purna River (stage 8) is crossed by a Ferry Boat (capacity 2 carts) in the rains and by a temporary bridge from November onwards. Between Akot and Kaknur is a fair-weather track, running through hilly jungle from Jiri Bazar onwards; from Akot to Burhanpur the road is again metalled, the Tapti at Burhanpur being crossed by 2 boats (capacity 3 carts each) in the rains, and by a paved causeway from November onwards; the next two marches to Borgaon are bad, but from here on through Mhow to Neemuch the road is metalled and fit for motors. Retain river 10 miles from Neemuch crossed by Causeway passable in cold weather but impassable in rains. Surface is poor and very slippery. Care must be taken in crossing this and all other causeways.

Route No. VII.

FROM SAWARGAON TO SOHELA OR HALDIPALI.

Length 568 m. 4 f.

54 Marches.

Authority and date (month and year).—Stages 1 to 18 General Officer Commanding, 9th (Secunderabad) Division; stages 19 to 42 and 51 to 54 General Officer Commanding, 21st Indian Infantry Brigade, Jubbulpur June 1909; stages 43 to 50 Lieutenant G. S. Cooper, R. F. A., March 1913.

Epitome.—General direction E. N. E. From Sawargaon to Nagpur the road is unbridged and can only be used in dry weather. As far as Basim it is unmetalled, but in fair order; thence to Karanja there is a good metalled road. From Karanja to Shemangaon it is metalled in parts and thence to Nagpur is a mere fair-weather track, impracticable in rains. The country is hilly and rough as far as Karanja, thence to the Wardha river, a flat, black cottons soil plain is traversed, with a few hills in the later stages.

From Nagpur to Seongi the road is first class, metalled and bridged throughout, thence to Sohela 3rd class over red soil, except between Raipur and Tumgaon, when it is metalled.

Barwa-Saugor by Captain Hooper, S. W. B. October 1921.

Epitome.—The road generally is a made one, metalled and bridged with causeway over most of the rivers, passable except when in floods. The Narbada it crossed by a trestle bridge in the dry season and a flying one in the rains. From Binagaon to Bhadaura and from Mitloni to Karera the road is very hilly. Water and supplies generally plentiful, but in some stages arrangements have to be made previously. The road as far as Sipri is known as the Bombay-Agra road. Passable for motors.

Route No. IX.

FROM SIPRI TO DHOLPUR.

Length 113 m.

9 Marches.

Authority and date.—Gwalior-Dholpur by 17th Infantry, October 1921.

Epitome.—To Sipri by Route VIII. Thence a metalled road, with a light railway running alongside and often on the roadway, as far as Gwalior.

The road is fit for motors throughout; near Gwalior there is a succession of up and down gradients, none very steep; the drivers must look out for Irish bridges in the hollows. The Chambal river is crossed by a bridge of boats in the dry season, and by a ferry in the rains. There are sign posts at most of the cross roads. The road is generally known as the Bombay-Agra road.

By Route VIII from Bombay in 52 marches, length 606 m. 6f.

In the hot weather there is a ford at Kaira, 4 m. up stream. The approaches to the railway bridge are so cut up by nullahs as to preclude passage of all infantry and led horses; the rail track itself is covered with loose ballast and is too narrow for all but infantry and led horses. Other arms must therefore use the bridge of boats, which however, is dismantled 15th June and 20th October each year. Four large ferry boats and 17 other boats are available for use during the rains, but 14 days' notice must be given to the District Surveyor at Agra. A large town. Camping Ground.—120,680 sq. yds., 3 m. distant, sandy and uneven. Water.—Plentiful, good, from well close to C. WUN TO ELLICHPUR.

Length 184 m. 5 f.

16 Marches.

Authority and date (month and year).—Under orders of Colonel Commandant, 21st Indian Infantry Brigade, Jubbulpore 1913.

Epitome.—General direction W. by N. to Darwaa, N. by W. to Murtazapur and thence due N. The road metalled throughout from Wun to Daryapur; thence to Anjangaon a fair weather track from Anjangaon to Ellichpur metalled road. The road is motorable from Wun to Darypur except in the rains. There are for the most part trees on either sides of the road, but no fences or ditches. As far as Murtazapur camping grounds are usually large enough for a brigade, water is plentiful in the cold weather and generally sufficient in the hot. Fuel is scarce except round Yeotmal and previous notice should be given; both fuel and grass can be obtained from forest officers. The chief crops are jowari and cotton. Jowari is plentiful and there are large number of cattle and goats. The country is flat except round Yeotmal.

From Murtazapur the road is a fair-weather track while water is scarce in the hot weather, the wells being brackish as a rule.

FROM DAMOH TO REWAH viâ GONoor AND NAGODE.

Length 146 m. 2 f.

13 Marches.

Authority and date (month and year).—Colonel Commandant,
21st Indian Infantry Brigade, Jubbulpur, January
1922.

General direction E.-N.-E.

Epitome.—Road from Damoh to Bintee (26 miles) 15' wide, metal-led and bridged, fit for motors and wheeled transport ; thence to Puraina (25 miles) unmetalled ; passable for all arms. Puraina to 3 m. N.-W. of Nagode (27 miles) is a fair-weather cart track, intersected with nalas and practically impassable for wheeled traffic in the rains ; thence to Rewah and 18' wide metalled and bridged road.

The country as far as Gonoor is flat ; thence to Rewah undulating. The Biarma river in stage 5 and the Cane in stage 6 have to be forded ; in the rains they are crossed by ferry boats, but the boat on the Biarma is incapable of taking carts.

Camping ground and water are ample for a brigade and supplies for a brigade can be collected on notice being given, usually a month being required.

CHOTA UDEPUR to KAMPTEE.

Length 424 m.

39 Marches.

Authority and date (month and year).—

Epitome.—General direction E. by S. Betul to Kamptee metalled and motorable throughout except during very heavy rain, when the crossings (although paved) in miles 140, 156 and 161 from Betul become impassable for a few hours. Between Borgaon and Betul the country is Government forest reserve, hilly with thick jungle, and very sparsely inhabited by Bhils, the water supply is uncertain and many of the villages marked on the map are deserted. With the exception of grass and wood there are no supplies; the track is very bad and is only fit for lightly loaded country carts (6 to 8 mds.) and pack transport. The Tapti, crossed twice in this portion, is unfordable till the end of October while there are no boats at the crossings. From Betul to Chichunda a first class metalled road runs, while the road on to Kamptee is a good made one. A better route, though longer by about 50 miles, is by route 17 to Dhulia, thence to Burhanpur (vide Volume VI of 1910) any from there via Ellichpur. By this alternative the Tapti is crossable by ferry boat in the rains while the major portion of the route is metalled.

FROM BETUL BADNUR TO JHALRAPATAN.

Length 247 m. 6 f.

21 Marches.

Authority and date (month and year).—

Epitome.—General direction N. N. W. A good road metalled and in parts bridged, as far as Kilichpur, with the exception of the part between Hoshungabad and Bhopal, which is a mere cart-track. Beyond Kilichpur a cart-track, fair in parts, but rough and stony in places, the stage between Bhojpur and Bhalta being unsuitable for guns. With this exception the road is suitable for all arms. The only serious obstacle is the Narbada River, which is crossed by ferry, Motors should entrain from Hoshungabad to Hirania, and could not go beyond Kilichpur. Water scarce in many places, especially in hot weather. Notice should be given for supplies.

FROM KAMPTEE TO GWALIOR.

Length 422 m. 7 f.

42 Marches.

Authority and date (month and year).—Corrected October 1921, by 37th Dogras, Jhansi, Gwalior, 17th Infantry.

Epitome.—General direction N. A metalled road throughout. Suitable for all arms. From Kampti to Chindwara good and partially bridged; thence to Narsinghpur hilly; from there to Saugor, road only fair. Thence to Lalitpur very good. Between Lalitpur and Jhansi the road is very good, but for motors careful driving is necessary, as there are several sharp bends at villages. There are also several unprotected causeways. Betwa river can be crossed in dry weather by causeway, but a serious obstacle for a car in the rains. From Jhansi to Gwalior the road is very good, the only serious obstacle being the Sindh river crossed by a rough pile bridge in the dry season and by ferry-boat in rains.

Supplies on notice throughout, and water for a battalion.

By Route 6 from Wellington.

By Route 7 from Bombay to Nagpur and then by Route 6.
